In my personal opinion after looking at the data from surrounding areas until we have an a problem with out of town vendors coming to our area frequently, we should either get rid of the ordinance all together or designate that anyone who is a resident out side of Davis County has to pay a $10 daily fee. Even if we do that I have questions. How do we make sure that someone from out of town is going to the city and applying for that application and paying the fee? Are we going to have the Police Department regulate that? Is that a good use of their time? Where does the money for those applications go? *** We also need to look at the BIG picture. Sure the reason for food trucks is easily that the overhead cost is less and they can make their own schedule. However in a small community people want to have options, and members of the community that we live in are giving them options. If we make the process of doing business as a food truck costly or complicated we risk losing some of those options our local residents have created. People will begin to shop else where. Not just for dinner but for groceries and all those other little items because they can do it all in one trip.
